

Document numbering

The Secretariat assigns numbers to documents using the following codes:

* A version is considered as an initial version until it is circulated for the first time.

**In 2007, a numbering system by groups was established whereby numbers 001-099 correspond to GEN documents; 100-199 to PLE; 200-299 to STF; 300-399 to COC; 400-499 to PWG; 500-599 to PA1; 600-699 to PA2; 700-799 to PA3; and 800-899 to PA4.

Example: PLE_101B/2022 would be the second revision (version B) of the document with the serial number 101, which is destined mainly for the plenary matters (PLE).

With regard to statements that are presented at the meeting, at the recent Commission meetings some observers submitted texts in a format and structure that differed from what could be considered a statement. It is recalled that there are other channels for the submission of such type of information and Delegates are encouraged to adjust the content to a statement format. Observers wishing to present written statements or working papers must do so through the ICCAT Secretariat. Documents with inappropriate content may not be accepted for distribution.

Please be informed that there is a 450 word limit on any statements submitted that are to be translated or subsequently published in the Commission proceedings. If longer statements are submitted for publication in the report, these must be submitted in the three official languages of ICCAT to the Secretariat. The number of statements from each observer delegation to be included in the Biennial Report may be limited.

In recent years, in an effort to reduce costs and environmental impact, the Secretariat has been substantially reducing the number of hardcopies of the Commission documents and makes all available for download on the ICCAT web page. However, for those delegations from CPCs that still wish to have access to hard copies, a single set of the documents will be made available per delegation. The Secretariat will very much appreciate a notification from those delegations that DO NOT WISH to receive hardcopies of the meeting documents.
